Progress so far

✓ Building relationships with key constituents

✓ Getting input via a questionnaire & conversations with CFHL, UCCE staff

✓ Scanning existing resources at UC Davis (and beyond)
  ✓ Getting contributions from CFHL, UCCE staff

✓ Identifying gaps

✓ Formulating evidence-based activities to pilot at the symposium on May 14th

Universal School Meals

Today’s Presentation

• Introduction to Universal School Meals in California
• Nuts and Bolts of Implementation
• Potential Impacts to School Food Service Partners
• Potential Impacts to Our Work
Assembly Bill 130

- Education finance bill
- Signed into law on July 9, 2021
- Requires public schools, county offices of education, and charter schools provide two meals (breakfast and lunch) each school day to all students who want one, regardless of their free or reduced-price meal eligibility.
- Goes into effect 2022-2023 school year
Benefits of Universal School Meals

Reduced food insecurity
- Help families stretch food dollars
- Reduce stigma students may feel

Improved academics
- Improved reading and math scores
- Improved likelihood of moving to next grade on time

Improved behavior
- Reduced disciplinary referrals and suspensions

Pillar One

California’s State Meal Mandate is expanded to include both a nutritiously adequate breakfast and lunch for, not just needy children, but all children each school day.
Pillar Two

High poverty schools will be required to participate in a federal provision.
Definition of “High Poverty Schools”

- Identified Student Percentage (ISP) of 40 percent or more
- 40 percent of students fall into one of these categories:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Directly Certified</th>
<th>Student identified as</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• CalFresh, MediCal/Medicaid</td>
<td>• Homeless, migrant, foster, or runaway</td>

<td>• Participating in Head Start or similar program</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservation (FDPIR)</td>
<td></td>

Federal Provisions

• Existing federal programs
  • Use data during a base year to establish reimbursement percentages for the site, after which the site can provide meals to all for the next three years
  • Reduces administrative burden

• Two main provisions
  • Provision 2 – Uses Free and Reduced Price Meal (FRPM) applications
  • Community Eligible Provision – uses ISP
Pillar Three

The California State Legislature allocates funds to provide additional state meal reimbursement to cover the cost of the Universal Meals Program.
Supplements National School Lunch and Breakfast Program Reimbursement

• Requires participation in National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs to receive state reimbursement

• Intention is to maximize federal reimbursement

• State will provide a supplemental reimbursement
Example

Potential Impacts and Opportunities
Potential Impacts to School Food Service Partners

• Those that don’t currently have breakfast programs will need to start one
• High-Poverty Schools or districts that don’t currently participate in CEP or Provision 2 will need to apply for one of these programs
• More schools may opt to participate in Provision 2
• Universal Meals may result in increased participation
• Food waste may increase
Potential Impacts to Our Work

• May impact qualifying sites for services if more schools participate in CEP
  • Many sites already utilize Community Eligibility Provision
• Federal Free and Reduced-Price Meal applications will need to be collected by those not participating in CEP
  • Provision 2 schools will collect FRPM applications during base years
• Where eligibility is considered there is no change in how sites will be qualified to participate in our program

California's CalFresh Healthy Living, with funding from the United States Department of Agriculture's Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program USDA SNAP, produced this material. These institutions are equal opportunity providers and employers. For important nutrition information, visit www.CalFreshHealthyLiving.org.
Potential Opportunities to Support School Food Service Partners

• Smarter Lunchrooms Movement
• School gardens and nutrition education that connects to foods served in the cafeteria
• Youth engagement
• Kitchen Infrastructure and Training Funding
  • Schools can receive funds for training on promoting nutritious meals, including healthy food marketing and the school meal environment
Other Ways to Support Our Partners

- Recommend talking to partners – what are their concerns, what do they see that we could help with?

- Share in the chat – What are some other ways you could see our program help support Universal School Meals?
Main Takeaways

• Schools will still participate in the Federal NSLP and SBP and will need to collect FRPM applications

• Universal School Meals will not change how sites are qualified to participate in our program

• Eligible sites must be certified on the CDE Student Poverty - FRPM Data and meet at least 50% or more of the total enrollment for FRPM, or be qualified as a CEP

• We can help support our school food service partners with nutrition education and PSE change support

Social Media Toolkit

Using social media for university purposes?

You’ve come to the right place. Online communication tools can be difficult to navigate. We’ve put together some resources to help you create a successful and robust social media campaign for your unit.

Before you begin, follow these helpful steps:

1. Change your thinking: When you think of social media, do you think of wasted time? Losing control? Failure? Opening yourself up to negative comments and opinions? These are all common fears. While social media does require a good degree of transparency and openness, the benefits often outweigh the cons. Think of openness as a positive rather than a negative – there’s no other platform for your clients to feel as engaged and connected to you. You have the perfect chance to make yourself welcoming and approachable. How will your unit prepare for this shift in thinking?

   - Make sure everyone in your unit is on board with this new adventure. Seek help from coworkers in setting up policies and procedures. Know how to respond to negative comments and spam.
Thank You!
